Ethnic Childcare Development Unit

(1980 -)

Born 1 January, 1980, Marrickville Sydney New South Wales

Occupation Training institution

Summary

The Ethnic Childcare Development Unit was established in 1980, one of many initiatives funded through grant-in-aid programs that emerged in the wake of the Galbally Review of Migrant Post-arrival programs and services. It's aim was to train immigrant women, many whom had overseas qualifications that were not recognised, to work in child-care centres and introduce multicultural programs.
