

The Australian Women's Register

Entry type: Person
Entry ID: AWE4008

Lenehan, Susan

Occupation Parliamentarian

Summary

A member of the Australian Labor Party, Susan Lenehan was elected to the seat of Mawson in the House of Assembly in the Parliament of South Australia in 1982. She held the portfolios of Environment and Planning and Education. She was defeated at the 1993 election, when she stood as a candidate for the newly created seat of Reynell.

Published resources

Resource

Trove, National Library of Australia, 2009

Author Details

Rosemary Francis

Created 21 January 2009

Last modified 28 January 2009