The Australian
Women's Register

Entry type: Organisation
Entry ID: AWE5954

Northern Territory Anti-Discrimination Commission

(1993 -)

Born 19930101, Darwin Northern Territory Australia

Summary

The Northern Territory Anti-Discrimination Commission was established in 1993 with the aim of eliminating discrimination by raising awareness about the rights and responsibilities of individuals under the Northern Territory Anti-Discrimination Act. The Commission has three main roles: public education and training; the handling of complaints and community engagement.

Author Details
Marina Loane

Created 19 September 2016
Last modified 10 October 2016