

The Australian Women's Register

Entry type: Person
Entry ID: AWE6130

Janson, Julie

Occupation Novelist, Playwright, Poet, Visual artist

Summary

Julie Janson is a playwright and novelist of Aboriginal descent, belonging to the Burruberongal clan of the Darug Nation of the Hawkesbury River, NSW.

Julie has had plays produced professionally in Australia, Indonesia and the United States of America. Her debut novel, The Crocodile Hotel was published in 2015.

Julie is also a senior researcher on the website A history of Aboriginal Sydney which was first published by the University of Sydney in 2014.

Archival resources

National Library of Australia, Manuscript Collection
[Papers of Julie Janson, 1990-1996 \[manuscript\]](#)

Author Details
Alannah Croom

Created 16 January 2018
Last modified 16 January 2018