Entry type: Person
Entry ID: AWE6263

McHugh, Siobhan

(1957 -)

Born	19570101, Dublin Ireland
Occupation	Author, Historian, Journalist

Summary

Siobhan McHugh graduated from the University College Dublin with a Bachelor of Science and after working as an editor, writer and broadcaster, she migrated to Australia in 1985. Siobhan completed a Doctor of Creative Arts at the University of Wollongong in 2011.

Siobhan is an award-winning writer, podcaster, documentary-maker and oral historian and in 2013 she founded the first scholarly journal of radio documentary & podcast critical studies, RadioDoc Review. Siobhan is currently an Associate Professor in journalism at the University of Wollongong.

Archival resources

National Library of Australia, Oral History and Folklore Collection
Siobhan McHugh collection of Australian social history [sound recording]

National Library of Australia, Manuscript Collection
Papers of Siobha?n McHugh, 1990-circa 2010 [manuscript]

National Library of Australia
[Biographical cuttings on Siobhan McHugh, author, containing one or more cuttings from newspapers or journals]

Author Details
Alannah Croom

Created 10 April 2018
Last modified 10 April 2018