The Australian Women's Register

Entry type: Person
Entry ID: AWE6334

Jaivin, Linda

(1955 -)

Born	1 January, 1955

Occupation	Author, Journalist

Summary

Linda Jaivin studied Asian History at Brown University, United States, before continuing her study of the Chinese language in Taiwan. After living in Hong Kong and Beijing, Linda settled in Sydney as a writer and translator.

Linda is the author of eleven books and also writes essays and short stories. In 2014 she won the New South Wales Writers Fellowship.

Archival resources

National Library of Australia, Manuscript Collection
Papers of Linda Jaivin, circa 1982-2012 [manuscript]

Papers of Cassandra Pybus, 1956-2008 [manuscript]

National Library of Australia, Oral History and Folklore Collection
Linda Jaivin interviewed by Sara Dowse

National Library of Australia
[Biographical cuttings on Linda Jaivin, containing one or more cuttings from newspapers or journals]

Author Details
Alannah Croom

Created	24 April 2018
Last modified	21 November 2018